The Gallery

Au Roi is a wide 255 square meters space, established on the ground floor of a former strongbox factory. From its industrial past, it has retained majestic archways, a metallic glass roof and generous windows. Setting aside from the sidewalk, the building – with its large distinctive exterior facing a monumental installation from Ugo Rondinone – benefits simultaneously from an intimate position and an ideal exposure.

Surface: 255 sq m

Up to 200 people

Renovated under the supervision of the art direction studio “Les Graphiquants”, Au Roi possesses a strong visual identity and an ability to adapt to meet the needs of visitors. Thanks to its three distinct areas marked by dramatic arches, Au Roi’s protean form welcomes cultural events, private showcases, showrooms or product launches.

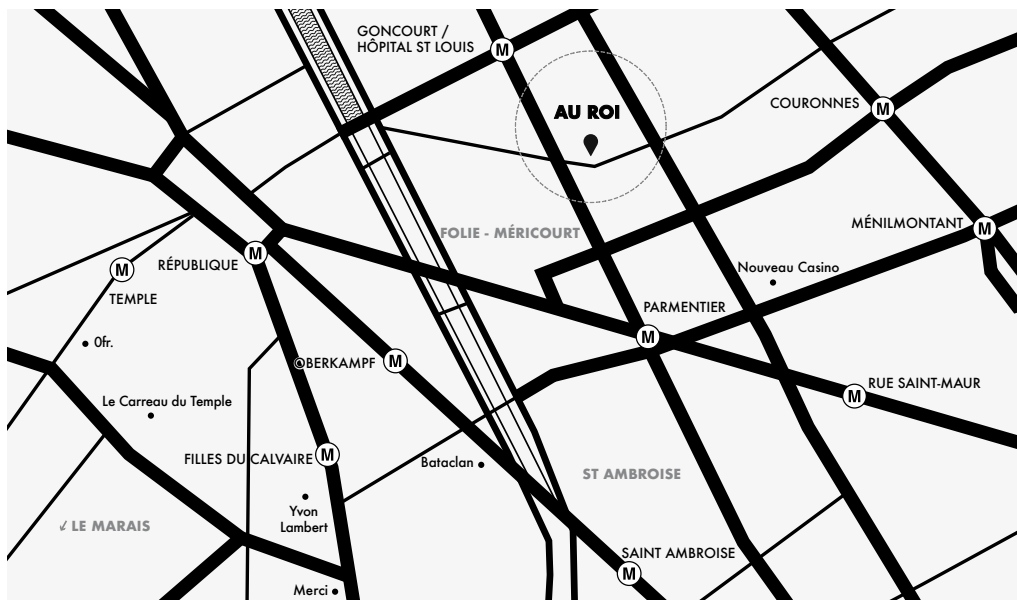

Its raw and refined architecture creates a perfect set for fashion shows and photoshoots. The adjoining spaces, located to the left of the gallery and upstairs, are also available to rent and can be annexed for events on a grand scale.

Lively, authentic, rich in culture and history – rue de la Fontaine au Roi, in the heart of Paris' 11th district, serves as a link between the central Place de la République and the trendy Parisian east side. This unique location, close to the festive rue Jean-Pierre Timbaud and rue Saint-Maur, the sophisticated rue de la Folie-Méricourt and the vibrant area of Oberkampf, make Au Roi an (almost) secret venue in a neighborhood, filled with designers, architects and artists' studios.
